

Educational Cooperation Agreement

CONSIDERING the need to expand and increase exchanges, strengthening educational, material and human activities and actions in the socioeconomic and environmental spheres, aimed at implementing progressive policies in Latin America and expanding joint activities that contribute to the integrated and cooperative development of international relations in a globalized world;

CONSIDERING the constant questioning and deconstruction of democracy in Latin American countries and in the world, perpetrated by anti-democratic and reactionary groups;

CONSIDERING the urgency of developing and disseminating egalitarian public policies that promote the expansion of opportunities for all, whether at the national, regional, subcontinental or even international level;

CONSIDERING, on the one hand, the profusion of false news, of an exclusionary nature, especially through social networks and immaterial technological instruments, and, on the other hand, a notorious inability to produce answers that arrive quickly and are internalized by the population, including the distance and separation of progressive and democratic political institutions in Latin America and the world
